M. CLEMENCEAU.

LONDON, Feb. 20.

Paris reports that M. Clemenceau passed an excellent night.

On the previous evening, M. Clemenceau was in excellent spirits, and sent a message to Lloyd George, thanking him for his telephonic inquiries, and saying he was getting on very well. Nevertheless the doctors say it is difficult to make a definite statement as to the effects of the wound for two or three days. It is impossible yet to use the X rays.

Mr. Lansing, one of the earliest visitors, said that M. Clemenceau's condition was such that important matters of the Paris Conference could be referred to him without the slightest delay. Moreover, the work of the conference is so well organized that it can continue almost uninteruptedly.

It is expected that the Council of Ten will meet as usual to-morrow, with M. Pichon or Mr. Balfour presiding.

RUSSIAN SITUATION.

LONDON, Feb. 20.

Reuter learns that the following represents the present situation on the different Russian battle fronts. In North Russia the position at Murmansk and Archangel is unchanged. It is reported that the Bolsheviks are massing troops here, that their numbers have been more than doubled since the beginning of the year, but there are no signs of an ambitious offensive at present.

On the eastern front the Siberian army is extending its right wing northwards from Tcherdin to Ustremenskoi, where there has been fighting. A Siberian counter-offensive further south continues satisfactorily. On the southern front General Denikin has gained an overwhelming victory, as was cabled earlier. The whole of the Stavropol province is now cleared of Bolsheviks who are holding their front with their left flank resting on the Caspian. General Denikin also occupied the valuable oil-wells at Grosny and is in touch with the advance-guard of General Thomson's force at Petrovsk. The defeated Bolsheviks are in a most uncomfortable situation, owing to bad communications, and more important successes of the volunteer army are anticipated.

The Don army has had extremely heavy fighting during the past week along the whole front from Tsaritsin to Mariopol, and it has to be admitted that the Bolsheviks generally had the best of it, chiefly owing to the demoralised state of the Cossacks. A counter-offensive by the left wing to the east of Bakmut, however, slowed down their advance, and resulted in the capture of a thousand prisoners and two guns, while a second Soviet division composed almost entirely of Chinese and Lettish troops was almost entirely destroyed.

RELATED "HAVAS" MESSAGE.

London, Feb. 14.
[Delayed].

In many respects yesterday was the most fruitful day of the Peace Conference. Definite progress was made towards peace. The Supreme War Council concluded a debate on the new armistice conditions, adopting the view that the next armistice terms should form a definite part of the peace treaty. The attendance included Messrs Foch, Douglas Haig, Petain, Pershing, and Diaz. New armistice terms of a peremptory character, involving the destruction of militarism in Germany, were made. These are not presented as matter for negotiations, but as demands to be complied with by a defeated nation. With reference to the future safety of France an important suggestion was made by Marshal Foch. On the Rhine should be no military establishment of any kind; the left bank of the Rhine should have no munition factories, no conscription, no store of arms. The French would like the League of Nations to maintain a permanent military general staff empowered with authority to call into instant action a great international military force for the frustration of any sudden German aggression.

The German aerobus "Goliath" after its return from London left Paris at 10 in the morning, with 15 passengers, arriving at Brussels after midday.

The French liner "Touraine" of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, is on its way to New York, the first passenger liner leaving Havre since hostilities ceased.

France's war expenditures, up to January 31st, amounted to 27,280,000,000, of which 27,200,000,000 was raised by tax-financing expenditure, including compensation for the loss of Alsace-Lorraine and 80,000,000,000 by borrowing.

The Spartacists, on February 16th, occupied 100 pits in 40 communal centres in the Ruhr basin.

DEVIL'S BROOD.

LONDON, Feb. 20.

Copenhagen has heard from Munich that Prince Joachim of Prussia, a son of the ex-Kaiser, has been arrested on suspicion of being connected with certain intrigues.

MINERS FAVOUR NATIONAL STRIKE.

LONDON, Feb. 20.

The ballot of the South Wales miners resulted in 32,903 voting in favour of a national strike, and 7,990 against.

THE SHOOTING OF M. CLEMENCEAU.

PARIS, February 20th.

M. Pichon, describing the attack on M. Clemenceau, said that, after the first shot, M. Clemenceau exclaimed: "He's missed me," but he knew that other shots might be fired. It was indeed a later shot that struck him. Several bullets lodged in the Premier's overcoat.

The scene of the outrage was only 50 yards from M. Clemenceau's house, where he walked.

He had apparently no accomplices, though a man was arrested for protesting against the crowd's attempt to lynch Cottin. The man arrested is an ex-soldier, invalided owing to heart trouble.

REFERENCES IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, February 20th.

In the House of Commons, replying to Major Wedgwood, Mr. Bonar Law stated that six shots were fired at M. Clemenceau. One hit his shoulder, after which, with characteristic power and strength of will, M. Clemenceau walked home. He declined to go to bed until ordered by the doctor, who was of the opinion that he would be up again in a day or two. (Loud cheers.)

The Government was immediately sending a message of sympathy and indignation.

The suggestion that the Speaker should send a special message on behalf of the House was contrary to all precedent but would be considered. (Cheers.)

LONDON, February 19th.

It is confirmed that M. Clemenceau was not seriously wounded. He was able to walk home.

PARIS, February 19th.

Cottin, M. Clemenceau's assailant, is twenty-three years of age, a cabinet-maker by profession, and a militant anarchist.

A soldier accompanying M. Clemenceau's chauffeur fired at Cottin with a revolver.

M. Clemenceau, in the afternoon, remained bright and cheerful, and had a lengthy interview with Marshal Foch.

M. Clemenceau is of the opinion that he recognised his assailant as a man he saw loitering, when returning home the previous evening.

PARIS, February 17th.

The condition of M. Clemenceau at three this afternoon was the same, but the temperature had slightly risen.

M. Clemenceau is resting. Visitors are excluded.

PARIS, February 16th.

Fuller details show that M. Clemenceau was walking through the streets when the would-be assassin suddenly sprang from a public conveyance where he had been waiting and fired five times. The shots pierced the hood of the car, but only one hit the aged Premier.

The Police seized the assassin, but not before he fired two shots at them, wounding two. The crowd would have given him a bad time had not the Police got him off quickly.

The Premier's chauffeur was slightly wounded.

The culprit's name is Cottin, and he is a native of Compeigne.

Eminent physicians announce that M. Clemenceau was hit in the posterior part of the right shoulder. The wound is a penetrating one, without a visceral lesion.

The patient's general condition is perfect.

GERMANY.

BALE, February 19th.

A telegram from Weimar states that the Government, discussing the critical situation in the Ruhr region, where nine-tenths of the mines were in the hands of Communists, who were preventing the transport of coal, sent a telegram to Hanover and 30,000 loyal troops were brought in to suppress the strike.

The Spartacists, on February 16th, occupied 100 pits in 40 communal centres in the Ruhr basin.

FRANCE'S WAR COSTS.

PARIS, February 17th.

France's war expenditures, up to January 31st, amounted to 27,280,000,000, of which 27,200,000,000 was raised by tax-financing expenditure, including compensation for the loss of Alsace-Lorraine and 80,000,000,000 by borrowing.

PARLIAMENT.

Replying to another question, Mr. Bonar Law stated that the Government possessed a list of the chief culprits in connection with the ill-treatment of British prisoners, but emphasised that action could only be taken in conjunction with the Allies.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Lambert, asked for the names of the Plenipotentiaries who are actually empowered to agree, on behalf of the United Kingdom, to the peace terms.

Mr. Bonar Law replied: The Premier, Mr. Balfour, Mr. Barnes, one representative of the Dominions, and myself.

PARIS CONFERENCE.

LONDON, February 19th.

A communique from Paris, dated February 19th, states that the Reparation Commission to-day received the evidence of Japan, the United States of America, Italy and France.

LONDON, February 19th.

A communique from Paris, dated February 19th, states that the inter-Allied sub-Commission on Ports, Waterways and Railways, met on February 18th and discussed two draft conventions on the internationalisation of rivers, submitted by British and French delegates.

The general principles embodied therein appeared acceptable to all the nations interested.

It was agreed that the revised draft would be drawn up by a drafting Committee consisting of delegates from the British Empire, France and Belgium.

LONDON, February 19th.

Mr. Lloyd George has received an urgent recall to Paris, and is leaving for the conference to-morrow.

MILITARY SCANDAL.

LONDON, February 19th.

The hearing of the Rutherford case was resumed to-day. Mrs. Rutherford's maid emphatically denied that she had ever seen anything suggesting improper intimacy between her mistress and Major Seton.

She also stated that, at her mistress's request, she removed a photograph of Major Seton from her mistress's room, the day before Lieut.-Col. Rutherford came home, because Lieut.-Col. Rutherford would have burned any man's photograph he found in the house.

The hearing was adjourned.

U.S. ARMY.

WASHINGTON, February 19th.

The House of Representatives passed an Army Appropriation Bill of over a billion dollars, having previously eliminated the provision of the Senate calling up a temporary standing army of 640,000.

The Bill restricts voluntary enlistments in peace time to 175,000, enlistments being for a year only, without reserve. The Bill now returns to the Senate.

NEW BRITISH ARMY.

LONDON, February 19th.

Mr. Winston Churchill, speaking in London, said: "We are recruiting a new army for two and three years' service, at a rate of over 1,000 daily. It is essential, in order to disarm Germany and secure reparation, which we are determined to get, to maintain a strong and well-disciplined army on the Rhine. There is no intention of sending a large British force to Russia. If Russia is to be saved, it must be by her own exertions."

LABOUR.

LONDON, February 19th.

The South Wales ballot continues to-day. A two-thirds majority is necessary for a strike.

LATER.

Up to the present, the miners' ballot in South Wales has resulted as follows:—18,000 for a strike, and 2,800 against.

HOCKEY.

STAFF AND DEPTS. v. H.K.D.C.

These teams played a United Services League fixture yesterday at Happy Valley. The Staff had much the best of it in the early stages of the game, Fugh opening the scoring for them. Gallagher and Fugh worked well for the second goal for the Staff, the latter netting the ball. Before the interval, Wood scored the first goal for the Defence Corps.

After changing ends the Defence Corps played up strongly, and Hodgson registered the equaliser shortly after the resumption. The Staff had bad luck then losing a player injured, but before the final whistle they snatched a victory, Horrocks scoring the winning goal.

Result:—Staff and Depts., 3; H.K.D.C., 2.

FLY REGENERATING ON SUGAR.

When resting, the fly can often be observed to regurgitate its crop contents, and there is a constant flow of this material from the end of its proboscis, a drop nearly as large as its head. This fluid is drawn in and out with rapidity, and is not only a powerful disinfectant, but it also acts as a powerful antiseptic. A drop of this fluid will kill any bacteria on the surface of food ready for human consumption, and the deposit may easily contain 4,000,000,000 bacteria or other intestinal infection organisms.

Well fed house-flies deliberate about once every five minutes.

The executive of the Railway Clerks' Association at Birmingham adopted demands to be laid immediately before the Railway Executive Committee. These include standard wages for railway clerks from £70 a year at 16 to £250 at 28, with an additional £20 a year for London clerks. They also include a working week of 38 hours for day duty and 34 for night duty.

BARON SCHROEDER'S COAL.

Arising out of the seizure of Baron Schroeder's coal, three Army Service Corps lorry drivers, named Temple, Yates, and Haslin, were fined £1 each at Cumberley for stealing five sacks of coal, the property of the King. Percy Blyth, a corporal, was fined £2, and Edith Crouches, wife of a soldier over-seas, £1 for receiving the coal.

The first three men were engaged with German prisoners in removing the anthracite coal from Baron Schroeder's residence at Englefield Green to the Royal Military College, Sandhurst. On the way, by the instructions of Blyth, they left five sacks of the coal with Mrs. Crouches, who said she received the coal as a present from Blyth.

The three drivers admitted having received 15. 6d. each from Blyth, who said that he, in turn, got the money from Mrs. Crouches.

BRITISH CAPITAL IN PHILIPPINES.

British capital invested in the Philippines amounts to more than the financial interests of all other nationalities combined, and is over twice as much as the investment of American capital, according to statistics which are published in the first bulletin of the Bureau of Commerce and Industry.

The figures on foreign capital invested in the islands are as follows: Great Britain, Pesos 1,240,000,000; United States, Pesos 644,000,000; Germany, Pesos 170,000,000; Japan, Pesos 123,000,000 and Netherlands, Pesos 59,000,000.

There is now operating about Pesos 95,000,000 worth of capital in the various domestic corporations of the islands. Domestic corporations registered numbered 1,886 with an authorized capital of Pesos 207,180,000,000.

Of the trade relations of the Philippines with other countries, the bulletin has the following data: United States controls 69 per cent. of the volume of trade; Japan, nine per cent.; United Kingdom including Canada and Australia, one per cent.; China, three per cent.; and the rest is divided between Spain, Netherlands, Switzerland, Siam and other European countries.

SCOTLAND'S SAVINGS.

Scotland has about 4,000 War Savings Associations, and in 12 months the numbers of certificates bought averaged £2 17s. per head of the whole population.

Reports from 26 of the largest towns show that sales of War Bonds to the end of November 1917 were £3,071,370, while the returns up to the end of June 1918 from the same towns were £51,342,236. A five weeks' Tank Campaign has since brought in £28,161,460.

HYMN JOKES.

A word on hymn-jokes: In a homely chat on favourite hymns, the son and heir said he liked that one best where the little Jew boy stole the old gentleman's watch! The hymn of index was useless here, and the reference took some searching for. Here it is, familiar to all:

The old man meek and mild,
The priest of Israel, sleep;
His watch on the Temple child,
The little Levite, kept.HELIUM.

That is a funny story from America of the discovery of a "wonderful" gas called helium, "non-inflammable and lighter than hydrogen, which it is to supersede for use in airships. Helium is not lighter than hydrogen; as a matter of fact, it is four times heavier. Neither is it new, in the sense of just being discovered.

It was spectroscopically discovered in the sun by Janssen and Lockyer 50 years ago, and proved to exist also on the earth by the late Sir William Ramsay in 1895. Ten years later Professor Onnes, at Leyden University, succeeded in liquefying this intractable gas by forcing it down the heat gradient to the frigid temperature of minus 268deg. C., or 422deg. of frost on Fahrenheit's scale—its "boiling point."

LORD RAGLAN.

In Lord Raglan's long rule over the Isle of Man there have been one or two exciting interludes. The war, with its increased food taxes, fanned the flames of smothered resentment against the absentee governor, when he took, two years ago, a nine months' holiday—and at the promulgation of the laws on Tynwald Hill the rebels demonstrated.

Badges were worn by many in the crowd, proclaiming that "Raglan Must Go!" (R. M. G.); and an old woman, like another Jenny Geddes, threw part of the soil of Man at its Governor. But Lord Raglan behaved with simple dignity even when an address was presented to him politely demanding his resignation. He has gone, but there are said to be a good many of his admirers in the island who wish he hadn't.

MINERS RETURNING FROM THE ARMY.

A Home paper says: Coal-miners are returning from the Army in a constant stream. Up to the present about 75,000 have returned, of whom it is estimated 7,500 are Scottish miners.

The rate of discharge at the moment is about 5,000 per day, so that there is every prospect of the first 100,000 being released before the end of the year. Machinery has been set up to enable men speedily to obtain work. Men should report for duty at the pit at which they were employed prior to joining the forces.

FAMILY OF FIGHTERS.

War service in four Allied armies has been given by the family of which Mr. Charles Hessel, living at Kennington Park-road, London, is a member.

Mr. Hessel himself was over 50 when war broke out, but he joined the British Army voluntarily, and saw two years' service.

A brother, J. Van Hoot Hessel, of Antwerp, is in the Belgian Army, and another brother, Raoul Hessel, of Bordeaux, is with the French forces.

His third brother, Fredk. Cecil, died in Antwerp before the German evacuation, and his nephew, Fredk. Hessel, after escaping from Antwerp, crossed to America, and returned to France with the American Army.

WHO DID IT?

The ex-Crown Prince, in what may be called the advance proof of his defence for his trial, seems to have omitted only one thing. He has not told us who did initiate the war policy. He is certain that it was not himself; he is nearly as certain that it was not his father. It certainly was not Ludendorff, who had not emerged into importance in 1914. As certainly it was not Hindenburg, who was tranquilly drinking his beer in his North German castle, and growling over the Kaiser's ideas of manœuvres strategy. Bothmann-Hollweg is sure that it was not he. Who remains?

Shall we eventually have served up to us the name of some departed villain of whom the world has never heard as the real instigator of the Great War? Who killed Cock Robin? is nothing to it.

"TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE."

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, Feb. 23, 1918.

WHAT IS A FREE PRESS?

A good deal of nonsense is talked by a certain sort of journalist, the sort that likes to think the Press is the "Fourth Estate" and that journalism is one of the learned professions. One would think to hear them that the Press is an end of itself, instead of a mere instrument of the people. It was no complicity, really, to call it the "Fourth Estate." It is easily in these days, when it fulfils its function of mouthpiece for the people, the First Estate of the Realm, since the people, by common consent, is supreme. Many old-fashioned journalists still think their job is to lead and teach the people, but the time and the condition for that long since passed.

The "freedom of the press" is not an entity either in law or fact. The thing that is established is the freedom of the people. The people is free to gag its press, or to ignore its press, when it feels that way; and roughly that is how the thing works out. The press is only partly free. This is not an allusion to the war censorship, under which it was not free at all; nor to the Law, which in order to prevent licence, greatly restricts its activity. It is an allusion to public approval, without which it must fail.

There was a time not far distant, for example, when the public was more ignorant, more bigotted and superstitious, and by consequence more intolerant than it is now. Laws were passed which made "blasphemous" writings—writings which attacked the popular "kult"—liable to very serious penalties. No matter who made them, there is no denying that they had the people behind them. In later times, these old laws have occasionally been used by vindictive or narrow-minded officials here and there to penalize newspapers, although the people is no longer in sympathy with such, as its opinions have broadened. The earlier public would have wrecked a ship doings served no useful purpose. This is due to the peculiar mentality of the military man directly he feels himself in the limelight as the saviour of his country, clothed with authority, and to the fact that everybody everywhere was agreed on the one principle, "What does anything matter so long as we win the war?"

It is not for the journalist as such to fuss and fume about the curtailment of the people's liberty so long as the people itself does not seem to care. At least, this is how we see it. We are more convinced of it in view of the fact that we do not admire the public when it is first by ad-captainship writings such as we have seen in the Home Press. We would not have the people "led" by a press which of late is so notoriously bought and sold. Really independent newspapers, tied to no clique or party, "unwieldy" by influence and unbranded by gain, are regrettably rare. Happily, some exist; but modestly forbids our going further. It may be asked how the people can advance if not led. A people grows and develops with or without it, by a process of nature. It muddles through to progress. Its press, good or bad, is the fly on the wheel so far as "that is concerned. Now that the Press has become machinery owned by cliques who wish to lead, or more properly "stampede," the people, it is time to consider the idea of Nationalizing it. One paper to every so many thousand population, with an editor elected by popular vote, and the expenses guaranteed by the Rates. There's your ideally free Press.

Theoretically, the Press is free to print what the majority of the people are thinking; but it is still held in terror by those old laws, which any insubordinate official, to serve his personal honour, can bring to bear. "Blasphemous libel," "seditious libel," and "obscene libel" have been used more than once by bad men to muzzle good men. It is only when the people is made to see that its own right of free speech and opinion is threatened by such attacks on the Press that it bestir itself, as the people in Rangoon did about seven years ago, and as it has more than once done in England.

As for the War Censorship, it is of no use complaining, except at the inextinguishable and unconstitutional continuance. To suppress really objectionable matter, really dangerous to a country at war (say 10 per cent), 00 per cent. of the censor-ship newspaper which offended in that way, even if the authorities overlooked it. The modern public does not concern itself to defend its faithful mouthpiece when it gets into trouble occasionally for saying what everybody thinks. It is content to use it, without concerning itself too much to preserve it. An American lawyer, defending a paper which had offended a high official, referred to this greater freedom of theological expression in the Press, and got off this shrewd point: "There is heresy in law as well as in religion, and both have changed very much; and we well know that it is not two centuries ago that a man would have been burned as a heretic for owning such opinions in matters of religion as are publicly written and printed to-day. They were fallible men, it seems, and we take the liberty, not only to differ from them in religious opinion, but to condemn them and their opinions too; and I must presume that in taking these freedoms in speaking and thinking about matters of faith and religion we are in the right; for though it is said there are very great liberties of this kind taken in New York, yet I have heard of no information preferred by Mr. Attorney for any offenses of this sort. From which, I think it pretty clear that in New York a man may make very free with his God, but he must take special care of what he says of his Governor."

The break-up of the Austrian Empire will cause the disappearance of the two-headed eagle and will put an end to one hereditary fraud. When Francis of Austria gave up the pretence of being the heir to the Caesars, together with his claim to the lordship of the Holy Roman Empire, he should have discarded the two-headed eagle as his archaical arms. The retention, content the purists, is equivalent to a private citizen using the arms of an English seigneur one of his ancestors was a bishop.

HONGKONG RACES.

TRAINING NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The crowd at the Race Course this morning was the largest which has assembled so far to witness the morning gallops. Owing to the rain the course was heavy and the times of the gallops, which were all on the inside course, were consequently affected. There was a large number of ladies present and H.E. the Officer Administering the Government was an interested spectator and was accompanied by Sir William Reed-Davies and Mr. Justice Melbourne. Below are the times taken:—

WAR BOND DRAWING.

EXPECTANCY ENDED.

Blushing the hopes of many and confirming those of a fortunate few, the prize drawing of the St. Andrew's War Bond lottery took place yesterday evening at 5.30 at the Royal Theatre.

At 5.15 the theatre was packed with pessimists and optimists. Shortly before the hour set for the drawing two of His Majesty's sons gave a short entertainment with bagpipes. Then, to the immense relief of all present, Mr. R. M. Dyer, Chief of St. Andrew's Society, came upon the stage, whereon was mounted the ponderous prize-determining paraphernalia, and commenced the proceeding by saying:—

Ladies and Gentlemen.—This afternoon we have arrived at the final stage of the St. Andrew's War Bond Drawing of 1918. You will observe from the figures in front of you that the total number of tickets sold is 29,700, which is an equivalent of $148,500. Of this we donate a sum of $71,750 to War Charities, being 50 per cent. of the grand total, and after paying expenses of $4,750, there remains $67,000 to be divided among 56 prizes, the first of which is $17,010 and the fifty-sixth $50.

On behalf of the committee of the St. Andrew's Society I would like to thank the members and the general public who have so generously subscribed to make the drawing a success. With the $10,000 raised on St. Andrew's day and the result of this venture the Society will have raised for War Charities in 1918 a sum of not less than $21,000.

With this sum the Committee have decided to endow either a ward in some Scottish Hospital for wounded sailors and soldiers, or a convalescent home, or some similar institution, which will bear the name of the Society and will be a permanent war memorial in Scotland from Hongkong. The Committee are in communication with Sir Charles Addis and various members of the Society who are at home or are shortly going home, and hope without much delay to be able to announce what has been arranged. I trust this will meet with the approval of all subscribers.

Before calling on Messrs. Lowe, Bingham & Mathews, who have very kindly undertaken this work, to begin the drawing I would like especially to thank Mr. John Macdonald, the Hon. Treasurer, and Mr. Wylie of the Publicity Committee. The labours of those two gentlemen have not been light and we are all much indebted to the Santa Casa da Misericordia of Macao for their kindness in giving us the use of their machine to conduct the drawing in as efficient a manner as possible.

May I now ask Mr. Lowe to proceed with the drawing. The massive machinery, containing pellets numbered to correspond with the numbers of tickets sold, was then set in operation, thoroughly mixing the numbers. At the conclusion of this phase of the drawing, during which the majority of the audience was speculating upon just how much of the 1st prize they would spend on a trip home, and whether or not they should buy Maggie that new set of furs she wanted, Mr. E. A. M. Williams, of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham & Mathews, secured for a small sphere, wherein had been put 56 marbles numbered from 1 to 56, one marble which proved to be number 29. Then from the larger sphere containing the numbers of tickets sold, he secured one pellet, which was numbered 15,093. The result of these operations was that Prize No. 29, value $210, was won by Ticket No. 15,093. The whole drawing was continued in this manner. As the winning number of each prize was determined, Messrs. D. K. Blair and J. Macdonald announced by whom the ticket had been sold. The entire proceedings took about one hour.

Assisting with the drawing were Mr. A. R. Lowe, Mr. Ford, Mr. T. A. Martin and Mr. A. J. Martin.

EXPORTS.

Feathers.—No change.
Ginger.—Market strong and fair demand. Cargo in 2 cwt. cases $22 per picul. Stem $30. Cases of 6 jars, $5.40. Stem $7.20. Day, in 2 picul cases, $27 per picul.

IMPORTS.

Cotton piece goods, and fancy goods. During the early part of the interval there was a fairly good demand for staples and considerable turnover. Buyers having satisfied immediate requirements, the market is quiet. Fancy goods entirely neglected.

Yarns.—The heavy drop in Exchange coupled with light stocks, has caused dealers again to enter the market. A fair number of bales was transacted at an advance in value of $3.7 per bale. Prices have gone off somewhat at the close.

Quotations are:—
No. 10s at $196/238. No. 12s at $204/224. No. 16s at $248/258. No. 20s at $247/270. Arrivals 1,500 bales. Sales 5,600 bales. Shipments 100 bales. Unsold stock 4,000 bales. Bargains 14,000 bales.

Woollens.—Market dull. Offers made by Bradford recently showing reductions in price (and ability to supply lines that have lately been unobtainable) have met with no response from here. Some business in Blankets is reported.

Raw Cottons.—No business is passing. Quotations, Chinese staple $44/54. Indian grades $41/51.

Metals.—There is nothing new to report. Dealers evince no interest in new business, and until they are able to find buyers for their stocks, there is little likelihood of fresh enquiry. They are not likely to operate to any extent for some months—judging from present enquiry.

Sugar.—Market strong.
Rice.—Bangkok, from $3.50 to $3.80. Saigon, from $5.30 to $5.40.

ACTRESS AND HUSBAND.

The petition of Mrs. Madeline Theo Dorothy Reid-Kellett, well known on the stage as Miss Madeline Seymour, for a judicial separation from her husband, Major Alan Gerald Reid-Kellett, a New Zealander, on the ground that he dragged her out of bed and thrashed her with his Sam Browne belt on November, 6 1917 was further heard on December 20 before Mr. Justice Horridge in the Divorce Court. The cruelty alleged was denied.

The petitioner, reappearing in the witness-box, was further cross-examined by Mr. Given. As to playing golf and lunching with a man whose name counsel wrote down and handed to her, she agreed that she telephoned to this man that she could not play golf with him as her husband was home on leave. The man replied on the phone: "Are you married? I did not know that." With regard to her wedding ring, she said she used to take it off for safety when she played golf and tie it on to a scarf which she was wearing. Her husband objected to the character of this man, and wrote that he had had detectives watching him, and they had discovered that he was keeping bad women. After that petitioner discontinued the acquaintance of the man. She had told her husband that she met the man as a matter of business because he might get her a good part. She knew that her husband had been wounded at Messines and Ypres and had been awarded the Military Cross for gallantry, because he wrote and told a friend of her's. Witness did not get many letters from him after they quarrelled.

Why did you refuse to see your husband at the Alhambra and dodge out of the front door?—Because he had sent up abusive messages by the page-boy insisting on seeing me.

Did you say at the flat that this man friend who lent you money on your necklace had been helping you?

—Yes. Did you say "Do you think I got £20 a week for a small part in 'Potash and Perlmutter in Society'?" Laurillard is not a fool, and could have got a girl at £3 a week for the part. Dicky made up the rest of my salary?—No.

Do you swear that is an invention?—I do.

It was a very small part, and you got £20 a week?—Yes.

Supposing a husband had come home after six months and been told by his wife that she was being allowed £17 a week by another man, would he not be justly angry if he was told that?

Did you say "Dicky" wanted to marry you before you married the respondent?—No.

Questioned as to her money matters, witness said she only wrote to her husband for money which he had agreed to pay. Although she put £1,000 in the bank in 1917, a husband ought to pay something towards his wife's support.

You know he had only his pay?—Yes.

Were you spending money on anything but pleasure?—I have a certain position to keep up. An actress has to dress well to get engagements.

His Lordship—Do you have to pay for your own dresses at the theatre?—No, my stage "props" are always given me.

Mr. Given—You said yesterday that you were religious. You know Christmas is a season of peace and goodwill?

Petitioner—Yes, but it is not always possible to follow religion. We are only human.

After reading a conciliatory letter sent by the respondent to his wife last Christmas and the wife's letter of comment to a lady friend, counsel said: You describe him there as a thing in the semblance of a man. Was he not a brave soldier?—He was a good soldier, but that did not make him a good husband.

Your husband offered you a separation deed?—He did.

Then why are you bringing this case into Court?—I wish to get protection.

Do you want to get a divorce?—I don't want to be tied all my life to a man I don't love.

Then your answer is yes?—I hope so.

Do you want him to commit adultery?—I hope he will give me cause for a divorce. Witness added that she continued her performances at the Alhambra after the assault.

In re-examination, she said the gentleman friend who had been kind to her was over sixty years of age and there had never been any suggestion of immoral relations.

Mrs. Seymour, the petitioner's mother, of Fortslade, said that on 7th November, 1917, she received a frantic telegram from the respondent and went up to see her daughter. She afterwards saw the respondent and he rambled on for hours about a lot of silly little trivialities and accusations against his wife. There was nothing definite. Replying to the Judge, she said that the respondent was desperately sorry that he had struck his wife and promised that he would never do it again.

The respondent, Major Alan Gerald Reid-Kellett, was then called. He said he was thirty-four years old and was born and educated in New Zealand. He was a mining engineer, and was in Northern Nigeria just before the war. Then he came to England and enlisted as a private in BILLIARDS.

HONGKONG CHAMPIONSHIP.

This competition has been full of surprises. All the prophets have lost heart. What were to be the hardest games turned out fizzes, and dark horses have been romping in. Ties in which smaller interest was shown produced the finest billiards. Last night P.A. Yanovich defeated the redoubtable C. S. M. Goodman by 193 points. His best breaks were 43, 40, 35, and 30. Goodman made one 40.

King Edward's House. In November, 1914, he was introduced to the petitioner at the Carlton by a flying man, who had since been killed. Captain Liddell, V.C. In February, 1915, he got a commission. He had the Military Cross and the Croix de Guerre, and had been recommended for the D.S.O. and the Legion of Honour. When they became engaged the petitioner knew that he had only his pay, £228, which, with allowances, came to nearly £300 a year. He gave her all the money that he could spare. In April, 1917, he came home on leave, and they had some words at dinner at the Carlton. She told him that he was a tie on her—that being married made it difficult for her to get engagements, and that he must let her go, because, unless she was flighty, she could not get on the stage. Afterwards she said that if they could not agree and she could not get engagements he must give her cause to get a divorce. She also suggested that they should each go their own way and do as each liked. Such suggestions made him furious after being married such a short time. He denied that he ever sent nasty letters to his wife, but he used to receive most cutting letters from her when he was in dangerous situations. At Ypres he was wounded in the leg, back, and arm.

Coming to 6th November, 1917, witness said that when the petitioner admitted him to her flat he said he wanted to see where they stood, as the way they had been going on they were driving each other mad. The conversation turned on her friend Dicky, and she complained that, in consequence of being married, she could only get a rotten little part in "Potash and Perlmutter in Society." She said: "Do you think Laurillard is a fool? Dicky, who is a man with a heart of gold, has made up my salary for me just to help me." She also told him that it was no use him going to see Dicky, because he knew all about witness and was not having any of him. After some further talk he said: "If what you have told me is true, you ought to be flogged."

Upon that, said witness, "she sat up in bed and hit me on the nose with the back of her hand, saying 'Go on, flog me.' With that, I admit I was absolutely furious, and lost my temper. I was not in a very sane sort of state. I admit that I struck her once very hard with the flat of my belt. She threw up her arms and apparently fainted. I caught her in my arms, laid her on the bed, and covered her up."

Mr. Willis (cross-examining)—Do you make an charge of misconduct against your wife?

Respondent—I am only defending myself now. I am not making any charge against her.

His Lordship said this was a very sad case. There was only one act of cruelty proved, and he had no doubt it was a severe blow, a blow which no man in his sane moments ought ever to think of inflicting on his wife. He had no hesitation in saying that he preferred the husband's evidence to the wife's. He was very pleased with the way in which the respondent had spared her in giving evidence. A woman should realise that when she married a soldier and took three-quarters of his pay, he had the right to speak to her when he came home. The respondent had gone through the most terrible experience a man could have, and yet his wife shook him off and shut the door in his face. The petitioner would be wise if she went back to her husband. He was quite sure that she would be treated kindly, because he was just as fond of her as ever. In these circumstances, the petition must be dismissed.

STAR FERRY IN COLLISION.

MISTRESS OF JUNE KILLED.

A fatal collision occurred in the harbour at about 11.30 p.m. last night. The Star Ferry launch "Evening Star" crashed into a junk when midway across the stream.

The mistress of the boat, who was at the helm, was thrown into the water, and is believed to have been drawn towards the propeller of the launch and killed instantaneously.

The coxswain of the launch was brought before Mr. J. R. Wood at the Magistrate's Court this morning and charged with manslaughter. He alleged that the junk showed no light and as a consequence of this, the collision took place before he could perceive the danger. Mr. H. W. Looker, his solicitor, said that it seemed to him the proper course was to conduct a marine inquiry first, and with this in view he applied for a week's remand. It would be impossible to come to a decision as to whether the collision was due to negligence on the part of the coxswain without expert nautical assistance. If the inquiry resulted in the coxswain being exonerated, then there would be no purpose in proceeding with the case.

Mr. Wood said he would be ready to proceed with the case when it came up for hearing on Friday afternoon next.

It was agreed that the case would be heard on Friday, subject to any development that might turn up in the meantime.

MERCHANT SERVICE UNIFORM.

Now that a standard uniform has been adopted for the officers of the merchant service, difficulties have been experienced in their obtaining it owing largely to the cloth being held up for naval uniforms. The Imperial Merchant Service Guild have drawn attention to the matter, and the Board of Trade are taking steps to secure priority treatment for merchant service uniforms on the same lines as that now given to uniforms of the Royal Navy.

Cargo carried on through Bills of Lading from HONGKONG to BEIR
LAGOA BAY, DURBAN (Natal), EAST LONDON, PORT ELIZABETH and

The grand total net tonnage which arrived at the port of San Francisco in 1918, steam and sail, amounts to 5,440,473 tons in comparison with 7,075,553 tons which arrived in 1917. In view of the fact that the ships Harvard and Yale, the Great Northern, and Northern Pacific were taken off the coast (these ships alone would have increased the total tonnage 1,124,640 tons) also many other vessels of large tonnage, this has been a big year for the port. The 1918 tonnage includes only ocean going vessels.

With 10,000 bales of New Zealand wool on board, the British steamer Kuroow left Wellington, December 23rd, for San Francisco. This is the first shipment of New Zealand wool to arrive there in three years.

The steamer Colombia arriving here last week from Oriental ports brought 4,614 tons cargo, some of the principal cargo brought were 772 tons cocoanut oil (lin. bulk), 596 cases cigars, 8,095 bales hemp, 7,326 bags sugar, 10,951 ingots tin, 1,520 bales rice, 1,525 bales coffee and large shipments of ore, fresh fruit, pineapples, tea, etc.

The East Asiatic M/S Jutlandia, under charter to the Pacific Mail S.S. Co., arrived on December 31st from Calcutta via Manila with 8,333 tons cargo, which included 4,092 bales gunnies, 792 bales bags, 896 barrels cocoanut oil, 42,219 bags-linned and 13,200 pieces lumber.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha steamer Tsushima Maru, consigned to Doddwell & Co., en route from the Orient to New York, called there to discharge part cargo and replenish bunkers. Amongst the items of freight landed were 2,000 bags peas, 2,000 cases peanut oil, 1,000 bags beans, 2,700 tubs shoyu, 950 tubs soy, 168 cases porcelain and 40 casks crockery.

SEIZED SWEDE CARGOES.

In the Prize Court the President (Lord Sterndale) had before him the application of the Crown for the condemnation of large cargoes of metal and grain, the latter said to be worth £80,000, seized in the steamships Hero, Zamora, Augusta, and Sydland.

The Attorney-General (Sir Frederick Smith, K.C.), for the Crown, said this was one of the most flagrant cases to deceive that had come to his knowledge. The Swedish Trading Co. laid itself out through approved Austrian intermediaries and smugglers to obtain these cargoes for importation to Austria. The claimants had put in affidavits in which persons of the highest standing in the Swedish commercial world and others who were closely connected with the official world made statements which were totally untrue. They swore that the goods were for consumption in Sweden only. They produced documents which could not have been genuine.

The gravity of the offence, said counsel, was not diminished by the fact that one of the directors of the Swedish Trading Co. was the Swedish Foreign Minister at the time the letters and telegrams were passing through Sweden for Count Luxburg, the German representative in the Argentine.

CHINESE SAILORS LOST.

The number of Chinese sailors and labourers, who lost their lives on the sea in consequence of Germany's submarine warfare is 752, according to the latest investigation. Of this number, 109 were sailors. Five hundred and forty-three Chinese coolies were drowned on February 17, when a French mail boat carrying them was torpedoed in the Mediterranean Sea. There were minor losses of life on other occasions.

TWO STEAMERS IN ONE

The s. Hongwa made successful trial trips on January 15, says the "Pinang Gazette." The hull of this steamer is that of the Kalgoorlie, and the engines those of the Osmond, both lying in Singapore harbour. Mr. Lim Peng Siang combined the two to produce the Hongwa. The work was carried out successfully at Tanjong Pagar.

HONGKONG TIDES.

The tide-table given below has been compiled at the National Almanac Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an automatic tide-recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Tsim Sha, Tsai during the years 1905-8.

The zero of the table corresponds with the zero of the sounding in the Admiralty Chart, which has been found to be 4 feet 1 inch below mean sea-level.

To obtain the depth of water on the tide stage at the Victoria Naval Yard add 8 feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, 4 feet, add 10 feet 4 inches to the heights given in the table.

February 23 to March 2, 1919.
